

DISTRICT EDUCATIONAL GOALS

COMMUNICATIONS

Students should develop basic listening skills.
Students should develop basic skills in oral communication.
Students should develop basic reading skills.
Students should develop basic skills in written communication.
Students should develop ability to understand and follow written and oral instruction.

ACADEMIC

Students should develop basic mathematical skills.
Students should develop skills necessary for solving real-life mathematical problems.
Students should acquire basic knowledge in the biological and physical sciences.
Students should develop a basic understanding of modern scientific principles.
Students should acquire an understanding of the interdependence of man and his environment.
Students should acquire basic knowledge in history and the social sciences.
Students should develop good health and safety habits.
Students should develop basic habits and attitudes necessary for good physical fitness.
Students should have the opportunity to develop proficiency in one or more foreign languages.

CULTURAL

Students should develop an awareness of the cultural aspects of life.
Students should acquire basic appreciation of art and music.
Students should acquire basic appreciation of literature.
Students should have the opportunity to develop skills necessary for creative and artistic expression.

PERSONAL

Students should develop pride in personal achievement.
Students should develop an understanding of their own worth, abilities, potentials, and limitations.
Students should develop positive attitudes toward the learning process and the pursuit of knowledge.
Students should improve study and work habits.
Students should develop skills which encourage critical, independent thinking.

DISTRICT EDUCATIONAL GOALS

SOCIAL

- Students should develop an awareness and acceptance of the rights and responsibilities of themselves and others.
- Students should develop an understanding and acceptance of rules and regulations of society.
- Students should develop self-discipline.
- Students should develop sensitivity toward individual differences among people.

CITIZENSHIP

- Students should develop an understanding of the institutions and processes of a democratic society.
- Students should develop the skills needed for participation in a democracy.
- Students should develop positive attitudes toward community involvement.
- Students should develop positive attitudes toward citizen involvement in government.
- Students should develop a respect for the rights, property, and opinions of others.

VOCATIONAL

- Students should develop an awareness of career and educational opportunities available to them.
- Students should develop one or more basic vocational skills (in industrial arts, business practice, home economics, etc.).
- Students should develop the ability to make wise choices as a consumer.