Dr. Fadule then turned the meeting over to Mr. Sincaglia who read a statement concerning the revisions in state aid and their proposed impact on the Nutley 1992-93 school budget:

"On January 28, 1992 Governor Florio introduced the New Jersey state budget for fiscal year 1993. In the Governor's budget message was a revaluation of the state pension system. Briefly, this involves the state counting all the assets of the pension system at their true market value. By doing this the annual state contributions and those of local governments would be reduced.

"As a result of this revaluation the state contributions to the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund on behalf of local school districts was lowered by over 341 million dollars. This reduction made additional Foundation Aid available to many local school districts, including a number who had been told that they would receive nothing in Foundation Aid for 1992-93.

"Nutley is such a district. Originally, the district was informed that it would receive no Foundation Aid, but with the pension revaluation, the district would now be getting $580,425. In addition, the proposed revaluation will give the Board the option to make an adjustment in its own contribution to the Public Employees Retirement System (pension system for nonteaching employees).

"For the Nutley Board of Education the notification of this additional school aid will permit the Board to reduce the local property tax requirements in the 1992-93 school budget. The tax savings as a result of these state aid changes will amount to nearly $700,000. None of these additional funds will be used to pay for any expenditures, despite the fact that the Board had previously made numerous substantial budget reductions to get the 1992-93 budget under the statutory cap. The 1992-93 budget will now be set well below the cap figure by an amount of over $121,000.

"With these various adjustments in state aid and expenditures, the Board is now able to adopt a new tentative current expense budget of $29,238,663 which represents an increase from 1991-92 of 2.4%. The tax increase for 1992 will now be set at 31 points, a reduction of 18 points from last year's budget increase, and a 7 point reduction from what had previously been anticipated.

"While the Board is pleased with the additional state aid, the amount available to support the 1992-93 Current Expense budget is still only 11.4%. While this is an increase from last year's 10.9%, it is still well below what the district used to experience - a state share of about 14-15%. The Board has recently communicated its concern about shrinking state school aid and the increasing reliance on local property taxes, to the new leadership in the state legislature."
