THE PRESIDENT'S FOREWORD

The following report will give you a clear picture of the administration of the Nutley schools during the past year. It deserves your careful study.

I should like to call your attention to several serious situations in the schools which have resulted from the drastic cut in our budget. I feel sure that parents will wish to rectify these as soon as economic conditions permit.

One of the most serious is a larger pupil load for high school teachers than the state deems advisable. This must eventually affect the efficiency of our teaching. Also, it endangers our position on the approved high school list.

Equally serious is the loss of Manual Training below the seventh grade. This has worked severe hardship on many children whose best work lies along these lines. The economic waste of forcing the wrong type of education on a child is apparent to any intelligent person. Such conditions should not continue longer than is absolutely necessary.

The resignation of our supervising principal, Mr. Paul Radcliffe, will be greatly deplored by all people interested in our children. The fact that our schools have kept as high a grade of efficiency as they have during these difficult times is largely owing to his unremitting labor.

We urge you to familiarize yourselves with the details of this report, so that you may thoroughly understand school problems, the proper solution of which is so vital to your children's future.

MARY P. AMES

President Board of Education

Your supervising principal has been with you for fourteen years, during which time Nutley's growth has been an unusual one. The following figures are significant:

Graduated from High School 1921 to 1934, inclusive
14 years	1243
Graduated from High School 1920-21	31

High School Enrollment 1933-34	1224

We have at the present time a moderately large school system. It will continue to grow in the future, probably rapidly, when the times encourage the building of new homes. The organization is a modern one capable of taking care of the needs of our children fairly well. The chief danger to efficiency at the present time lies in our high school. We have done too much in the name of economy as far as this unit is concerned. The various accrediting bodies—the State Department of Education, the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and the College Entrance Board—have set as an upper limit a 625 pupil hour load per week for any high school teacher. Our load has run as high as 1000 the present year. As far as we can see the average load next term will be greater than the past term. These accrediting agencies will be patient up to a certain point on account of the stringent times. It is not advisable to take advantage of their leniency, however, for we may lose our standing as a high school. This would be fatal. This matter should be taken care of as soon as finances will permit.

A high school matter of importance is the teaching of music. This work has been eliminated for the coming year. The State Department has consented to the plan for one year. This work should be resumed as soon as possible.

In the interest of economy we have taken from our schools many things that make for the kind of efficiency the people expect. We should begin to rebuild as soon as possible. The position of full-time supervisor of art should be restored; also a full-time supervisor of music should be employed again. Both the above important studies are suffering from a lack of coordination which can be brought about only through competent full-time supervision. We have less supervision than we had in 1910.

I might say much more, but I have faith that our Board of Education as a body is thinking just as seriously about these important matters as I am, and that you will act when you can get the money to work with.

I am going into retirement from public school work after many years of service. Each year has strengthened my faith in childhood and in the people who furnish the means to carry on public education. I am looking to our Board and to our people to justify that faith even in these severe times.

My years of service in Nutley for the most part have been very happy ones. This is due to an unusually fine teaching personnel, who have never once failed me, to an appreciative public, and to uniformly fine boards of education. I bespeak for my successor the same kind of consideration as you have shown me.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL R. RADCLIFFE,
Supervising Principal.
